Investigations in the Age of Geosocial Data

Guest Co-Speakers:

Chelsa Thompson and George Flores

DigiStream
INVESTIGATIONS

Did you know that most pictures posted on social media sites like Facebook, Twitter and Instagram tell the world about when and where that photograph was taken? This data, called “geotagging” is the focus of this presentation. The current growth of geotagged content and social media data is changing the face of risk management and investigations as we know it. Learn exactly what geosocial data is, and how this type of information is used to investigate insurance claims of all kinds.
